

TETRAULT ELECTED PRESIDENT

Kingstone Appointed Editor-in-Chief

Eddy, Wisse Also On Managing Board

Appointment of Eddie Kingstone, 20-year-old third year honours biochemistry student, to succeed John Scott, arts 3, as editor-in-chief of The McGill Daily was announced by the retiring Managing Board at the paper's annual closing Banquet last night.

A native Montreale, Kingstone has been with The Daily three years, serving for the past academic session as news editor and a member of the Managing Board.

Other two members of new Managing Board named last night were Louis Eddy, third year arts, who succeeds James Robb as managing editor, and Leonard Wisse, also third year arts, who follows Marcel Baltzan as sports editor.

Mervyn Rosenzweig was appointed news editor and James Robb was named to the features editorship, as a temporary appointment, to succeed Emily Hick.

Creation of two new senior editorships to assist the Managing Board and department editors with the general management of the paper was also announced. These positions will be filled by Allan Bernfeld, as executive editor, and Bob Graham, as assistant managing editor.

Other promotions announced are as follows:

Journalism In Canada Called "Big Time"

Journalism in Canada is just as 'Big Time' as journalism in the States or in Britain, and the Canadian newspaperman even has some advantages over his rivals from these two great states said Gerald Clarke, noted staff writer and columnist of the Montreal Standard, in an address to members of The Daily at their annual banquet last night.

Clarke, an ex-editor-in-chief of The Daily, who has covered such events as the German surrender in France in 1945 and the Nuremberg trials, pointed out that although most newspaper reporting consisted mostly of just routine digging up of facts, sometimes a reporter's biggest story comes as a complete stroke of luck.

He cited one of his own cases where he was waiting to meet a blonde in Paris, when an army officer who was looking for a Canadian reporter rushed up to him, and he soon found himself in a plane headed for Rheims, where he witnessed the German surrender.

Clarke emphasized, however, that it is by dull concentrated slugging that most stories are uncovered. It is through this kind of work on The Daily, he said, that students can learn toleration and understanding, and they will at the same time find that men are full of hope and resourcefulness — especially other newspapermen.

Award Winners Named

The annual S.E.C.-S.A.C. Awards Banquet slated for 7 p.m. tonight will see the official recognition of the contributions of various students towards campus activities, both athletic and administrative, during the past year.

The awards will be presented by the Students Society, Debating Union, Women's Union, M.W.S.A.A., and the Students Athletic.

The affairs will get underway at 6:30 when there will be receptions for the special guests in the C.O.T.C. Mess, and award winners in the Turner Bone Room. Special guests will be the Board of governors, the Senate, the Athletics Board and the executive of the graduate Society.

Following this, dinner will be held in the gym, and after a message from Principal and Vice-Chancellor, the awards will be presented. Included in the awards will be the Major Forbes trophy and the Grad Society Award for the contest winner.

The evening will end with a dance featuring the Escorts in the new gym.

Following is a list of the awards: Student Society:

Debating Union Elections Said Invalid

Elections for executive posts in the Debating Union were declared invalid last night by Mel Rothman, president of the Union.

In a statement to The Daily, Rothman said "Due to a misunderstanding, elections for the positions of President and Vice-president of the Debating Union held yesterday will have to be declared invalid."

"Election" for these positions will be held at a general meeting of the Debating Society today at 1 p.m. in the Ballroom.

"Every student at McGill is a member of the Debating Society, and is eligible to vote at the meeting."

These elections are usually held at a meeting of the Society, said Rothman, but this year it was decided to use the ballot system. However it was pointed out that only students who are sufficiently interested should vote in this election, and for this reason the election of yesterday was declared invalid.

Vying for the post of president are Nick Vlahos and Mike Wilson, while Jack Greenstein and Tram Malcolm are candidates for the Vice-presidency.

Rothman added that the constitution of the Debating Union has been revised to insure that all future elections will be held at open meetings.

Who's Who!

Newly Elected Students' Activities Shows Varied Interests

The new President of the Student Society, Jacques Tetrault, is now in second year in the Faculty of Law.

Tetrault was born in Montreal in 1928 and has excelled in executive as well as academic ability through his career in school and college. He came to Lower Canada College with a university entrance scholarship and came first in the school in his Jr. Matriculations with 89 per cent. In his third year in commerce he won the Isaac Bruck Scholarship.

During his six years at McGill Tetrault acted in the capacity of chairman of various university activities. This year he is President of the Scarlet Key and the International Relations Club. He was also one of the original workers on the McGill Winter Carnival and was Executive Vice-Chairman and Finance Director in 1949.

The new President of the McGill Union, Jon Ballon, is now in third year of the Faculty of Medicine.

Ballon was born in Montreal in 1926 and has had a varied and extensive amount of student posts. After completing his high school training at Montreal High, he entered McGill in 1943, receiving a bachelor of arts degree in 1947. The following year he entered the Faculty of Medicine.

This year Ballon was Chairman of the Dates Committee and Vice-President of the Union as well as Editor-in-Chief of the C.A.M.S.I. Medical Journal—official publication of the 4000 medical students across Canada.

Jacques Tetrault, newly elected President of the Students' Society succeeds Boris Gardavsky, a final year Mechanical Engineering student, in this capacity.

Gardavsky, twenty-three years of age, was born in Paris, France and came to Canada in 1932. In 1945 he entered the Faculty of Engineering at McGill. He is now a resident of the Town of Mount Royal.

The retiring President has been very active in a wide variety of student interests. At Dawson College, Gardavsky was responsible for making the Dawson Weekly into a campus paper instead of a weekly bulletin. This reorganization was a long and tedious process involving months of hard work. The Weekly doubled its size and boasted of a staff of 30 at the end of the year.

In the same year, 1948, he served in the capacity of Vice-president of the Dawson Students' Society, where he assisted in reducing the society's debt by $3,500 and still helped to provide an active year for the campus.

On coming to McGill in 1949 he served as Vice-chairman of the Freshman Reception Committee, Vice-president of the McGill Union, the executives of the Debating Society, Red and White Committee and Chairman of the Dates Committee of the S.E.C. In the same year he was elected to the McGill honorary society, the Scarlet Key.

Less Than Half Student Body Votes

By DON ALLEN

Slightly more than two-fifths of the eligible voters turned out at campus polls yesterday to elect representatives to three major campus posts.

Jacques Tetrault, Jon Ballon, and Nino Gualtieri were elected to the positions of president of the Students' Society, president of the McGill Union, and secretary of the Union respectively, chief returning officer Henri P. Labelle reported at the completion of the ballot counting last night.

Three other major positions were filled by acclamation: Daniel Kingstone, vice-president of the Union, Ed Crawford, athletics representative to the Students' Executive Councils and Mimi Pickering, president of the Women's Union.

Voting was heaviest in the election for Students Society President in a number of graduate faculties, notably Dentistry (third and fourth years) with 88%, Divinity with 74%, Law with 67%, and Medicine (including Dentistry I and II) with 64%.

Other figures were men students in Physical Education: 83%, R.V.C. resident students and women students in Physical Education: 69%, Architecture: 64%, Engineering: 41%, Commerce (men): 37%, Arts (men): 36%, Music: 34%, Arts (women): 27%, Science (women): 27%, Science (men): 22%, and Graduate Nurses: 21%.

Forty-three per cent of the voters turned out at the polls, casting 2,327 of a possible 5,378 votes.

Tetrault defeated Leonard Harbour 1,503 to 824; Ballon defeated Jim Cartier 1,142 to 582; and Gualtieri defeated Allan Levine 884 to 581.

By a 1789 to 219 margin the student body indicated its approval of a referendum in connection with the elected representative to the Athletics Board. The text of the referendum was:

"Do you, as a member of the Students' Society of McGill University, approve or disapprove of the following amendment to the Constitution of the Society."

"If the amendment is made effective the elected representative to the Athletics Board would be a member of the Students' Executive Council, as well as a member of the Athletics Board."

"That Sub-sections '(e)' and '(f)' of Section '(1)' of Article 'VI-Students' Executive Council' be relettered '(f)' and '(g)' respectively, and that a new Sub-section '(e)' be added to read:

"The elected representative to the Athletics Board."

"That Section '(2)' of Article 'VI' which now reads:

"Those members, Section 1-sub-section a, b, c, d, shall serve for the fiscal year following their election; in Section 1, sub-section e, f, they shall serve for the calendar year following their election."

Shall be amended to read:

"Those members, Section 1-sub-sections a, b, c, d, e, shall serve for the fiscal year following their election; in Section 1, sub-sections f, g, they shall serve for the calendar year following their election."

Liberal Club Elects Next Year's Executive

At the last meeting of the year of the McGill Liberal Club, Howard Gaffney was elected president by acclamation. Jack Greenstein and Storrs McCall were elected first and second vice-presidents respectively.

Herb Gray was elected Sec. Treas. and Chuck Taylor member-at-large.

The last activity of the club for the year will take place when its Hon. Brooke Claxton, honorary president, will address the members at the Union following which the annual banquet will be held at the Reform Club.

Hope for the Future, Thanks for the Past

Cartoons frequently seen at the beginning of the New Year would be quite applicable on the campus today, for among the Union crowd there are two distinct groups of people, those newly appointed to office—young, bright, and ambitious like the New Year baby—seem to have solutions for all the ills that afflict the Students' Society right at their finger tips. And then there are the worried, skeptical "elder statesmen" who have seen quite a bit of those ills and know very well that many are incapable of solution.

The Daily people are like that too, and it is probably a good thing. At The Daily's annual closing banquet last night the 1951-52 staff was announced, and it is an enthusiastic staff which we are certain is capable of providing the campus with a first-rate student newspaper next year. We wish them well in their work, with confidence that although their task is great, they will derive commensurate benefit from it.

A word at this point might also be said about the newly elected president of the Students' Society, Mr. Jacques Tetrault, and the next president of the McGill Union, Mr. Jon Ballon. They too, will face many difficult days, but their demonstrated ability and mandate from the student body should give them courage in their work.

It is right in this last regular issue of The Daily to make proper acknowledgment for the help we have received along the way. First, there is the staff, loyal to the principles of good journalism and a devotion to see them applied to their work on this paper. Their reward is in their work. We would also like to thank the Principal, Dr. James, his secretary, Mrs. D. McMurray, and those members of the faculty who, realizing the tremendous enterprise a daily newspaper is, have approached our problems with understanding and charity. By their acts we know them well, and we count it among our chief rewards that we have had the privilege of knowing them.

No account of those to whom we owe deep thanks would be complete without mention of the sterling co-operation and guidance we have received from the staff of The Montreal Gazette. The members of the composing room staff, and especially its foreman, Mr. William Skanes, have applied a personal understanding to our problems.

If those who are in charge of both The Daily and the Students' Society receive similar support in the year ahead, we are sure it will be a year of solid accomplishment.—The Managing Board.

Summer Seminar

Proud Italian, Anglo-Saxon Hypocrisy

by Joan Eddis

This article from the Toronto Varsity is one of a series of impressions of Europe. These impressions were gained by Miss Eddis as one of the Canadian delegates to the 1950 ISS seminar at Pontigny, France, near Paris.

I spent quite a lot of my time at Pontigny talking with the only Italian there, Franco Salvatorelli, who is an art student in Rome. Although I had the feeling about some of the others that they might be considered typical of their country, you could never have that feeling about Franco. He was an individual. In our afternoon discussion groups he was always ready to disagree and to back himself up with logical reasons. He could never become just one of the crowd.

His father, who I think was at one time an editor in Turin, was violently anti-Fascist, writing against Mussolini as long as he could. Franco also hated the Fascists. I asked him once if he had ever been in the underground or espionage activities. "Yes," he said and smiled wryly.

When German troops first entered his town he was about 16 and full of hatred. One night he noticed some of their troop trucks pulled up in front of a building. The trucks were being guarded by two weary German soldiers who weren't taking their duty too seriously. Franco took it into his head to get even with the Germans by puncturing their tires. This was not easy; piercing a tire means allowing the air to hiss out and possibly rousing the guards. He managed to despatch about two or three tires before he crept away. The next day large posters appeared throughout the town proclaiming that German trucks had been incapacitated and troop movements hindered by saboteurs. The signs warned that if such actions were repeated fifty townspeople would be selected at random and shot. Franco gave a little laugh, "That was the end of my sabotage."

I remember when I first started to talk with Franco I wanted to tell him that during the war we had never hated the Italians as we had the German Nazis. "In fact," I said, "many of us never took the Italians seriously but only laughed and made jokes about them." This was about the worst thing I could have said. Although he hated the Fascists, Franco was proud to be an Italian. He looked forward to the time when Italy would again be a great and free country. He was proud of his cultural tradition and often quoted Dante. But he was disillusioned by the present state of his Italy and resented the way others used Italy as a tool and refused to take her seriously.

As Others See It

Symbol and Backbone of the University

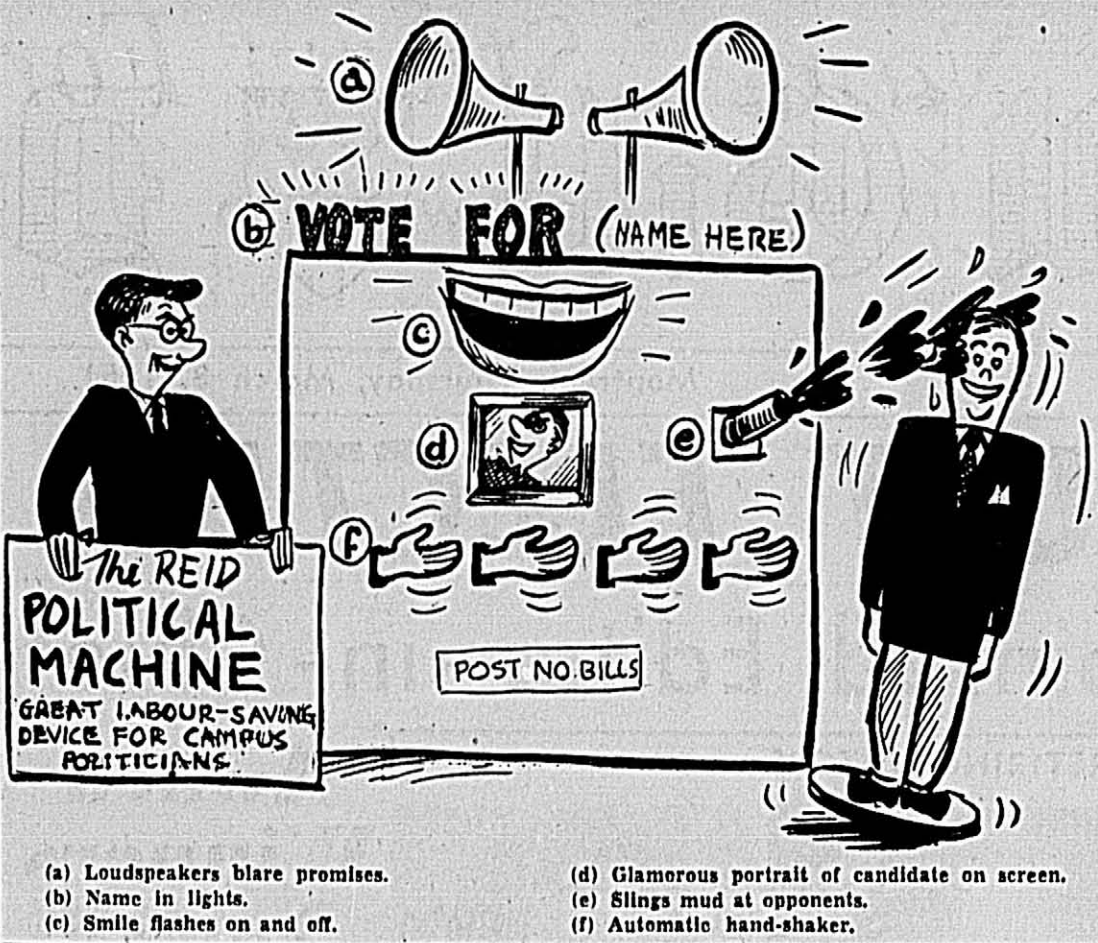

The pamphlet mentioned in the following editorial from the Ottawa Citizen was received by The Daily. We were at a loss to explain it until we read the following. As a topic of interest to the University Community we feel that its printing may help explain the question for many people.

"El, Too, Smith!" was the somewhat cryptic rebuke Dr. Sidney Smith received by telegraph last January 26. As president of the University of Toronto, he had just intimated that professors in the Faculty of Arts may have to be content with less pay than their colleagues in more practical fields like science and engineering. Any suspicion in his mind that the message might be related to this forecast was promptly confirmed by a letter from Mr. Wallace Havelock Robb of Kingston. Mr. Robb has laid the matter before the public in a printed leaflet explaining his protest. "El, Too, Smith," he says, "is a ghost of the decline of Rome, an echo of 'Et Tu, Brute!', Caesar's heartstricken cry when his best friend stabbed him."

Pointing the accusation directly at Dr. Smith, Mr. Robb exclaims: "So! You've sold the poets down the river, eh!" He continues in calmer vein:

"For hundreds of years, enlightenment, commonly called the Humanities—Faculty of Arts—has been the symbol and backbone of the university. The Light in our universities is starting to go out! The Arabs of the Arts, Oh, Toronto! are folding their tents on your campus!" No one who heard Dr. Smith speak at the inaugural dinner of the Carleton College Development Fund on February 13 could imagine him in the role of a Brutus plotting against liberal education. On trial in the matter, of course, is not Dr. Smith at all, but a materialistic society that would rather pay for a new gadget than a new idea.

As a citizen of independent mind, however, Mr. Robb has written his protest to the man who roused his sorrowful wrath. Not content even with sending a letter to the editor, he has published his views himself. The result is a pithy and eloquent contribution in the tradition of personal pamphletting, and public affairs would present a livelier scene if more Canadians engaged in these tilts. But to reform the real culprit who is dimming the lights in the universities will take the combined efforts of a great many Mr. Robbs.

Federal Position Offered—Violin Recital

Noted Professor to Retire
by Don Morrison

By DON ALLEN

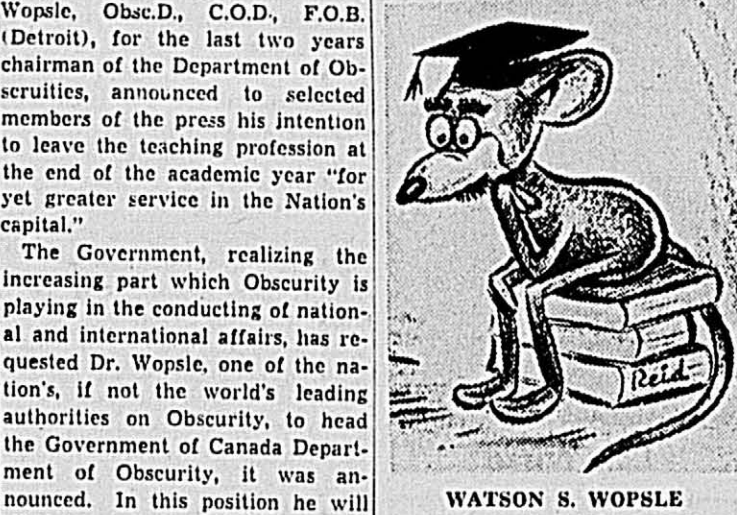

"I regret the necessity of leaving the hallowed halls of this institution and to bid farewell to so many familiar faces. But we are living in a time of crisis and when my country calls, I feel the duty to respond."

Members of the press held pencils over notebooks, seemingly paralysed in mid-air; leaned forward, glancing at one another with looks of disbelief, as they realized the full implications of the words of one of the University's most beloved and distinguished professors. In his dimly-lighted exclusive office in the South Wing of the Arts Building, surrounded by his colleagues and a few favored students, Watson S. Wopsle, Obsc.D., C.O.D., F.O.B. (Detroit), for the last two years chairman of the Department of Obscurities, announced to selected members of the press his intention to leave the teaching profession at the end of the academic year "for yet greater service in the Nation's capital."

The Government, realizing the increasing part which Obscurity is playing in the conducting of national and international affairs, has requested Dr. Wopsle, one of the nation's, if not the world's leading authorities on Obscurity, to head the Government of Canada Department of Obscurity, it was announced. In this position he will advise on all major policy statements, aid in the preparation of official Government forms, and will be at the call of federal politicians.

Staff and students alike across spontaneously to extend due credit to their beloved professor when the stunning announcement was made. "He (Wopsle) is the one man responsible for building our Department of Obscurities to what it is today," it was claimed.

"It is those little things by which he will be remembered — things which have already become a fundamental part of our lives," said another, pointing out that Wopsle had introduced the revised spelling of "stodent", and worked extensively on the library system and the methods of student registration.

source of the unending and almost legendary Wopsle humour.

The Professor cautiously revealed the hitherto closely guarded secret: "An old book of jokes which I came across several years ago, and which has been invaluable to me ever since. However, I must admit that some of the material is—if you will pardon a colloquialism—corny!"

In a touching ceremony a portrait of Dr. Wopsle was then presented by student artist Ed Reid, a great-grandson of Edmund Allen Meredith, a former principal of the University. Said Reid at the presentation: "We will feel your loss greatly, but we are confident that the Obscurities Department will continue to maintain the high standards which you have set."

Reid granted The Daily exclusive publishing rights on the portrait and said that he too would be travelling to Ottawa after graduation, where he will be employed by Crawley Films, Ltd. He promised to forward to The Daily exclusive bulletins as to the Professor's progress at the Capital.

Said Reid in connection with his previous interviews with Dr. Wopsle: "I hope other professors will not feel hurt that I have confined my interviews to Prof. Wopsle — and that they will have no feeling of resentment while marking my exam papers. May they remember the words of Shakespeare: 'Sweet mercy is nobility's true badge.'"

Said Wopsle: "Farewell, students of McGill; May good fortune follow you in the years ahead."

Introducing The Forge

This year's Forge, which is on sale today, offers its usual variety of interesting material. The Format is similar to that of the last Forge, and the cover design, by Cynthia Scott, is an improvement.

Due to time limitations, we were unable to read the whole of Forge and therefore cannot attempt to criticize or review it. It is interesting to note however that there seems to be more poetry than in former issues, 13 out of 21 contributions being poems. No doubt some of these will be very good for the method of selection for publication is far from haphazard. Every contribution is read and considered carefully. The best of these are brought before a board of selection consisting of the Editors and Associate Editors. Each piece is again carefully reviewed and, after much discussion, the final selection is made.

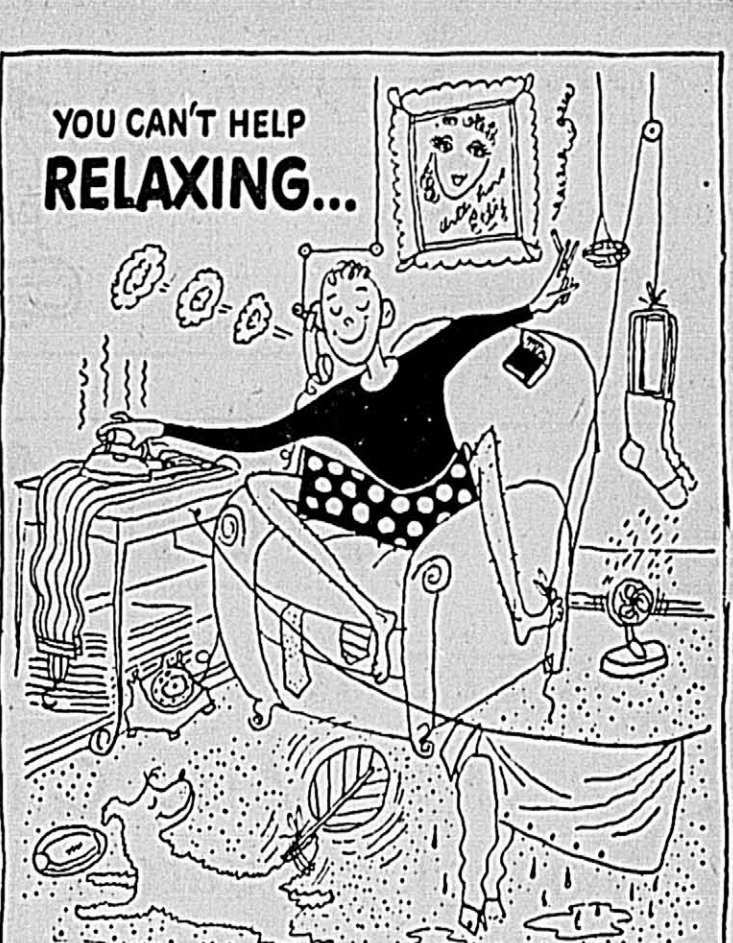

In Passing

Professor Flush was speaking: "I have here some fine specimens of dissected frogs, which I will show you."

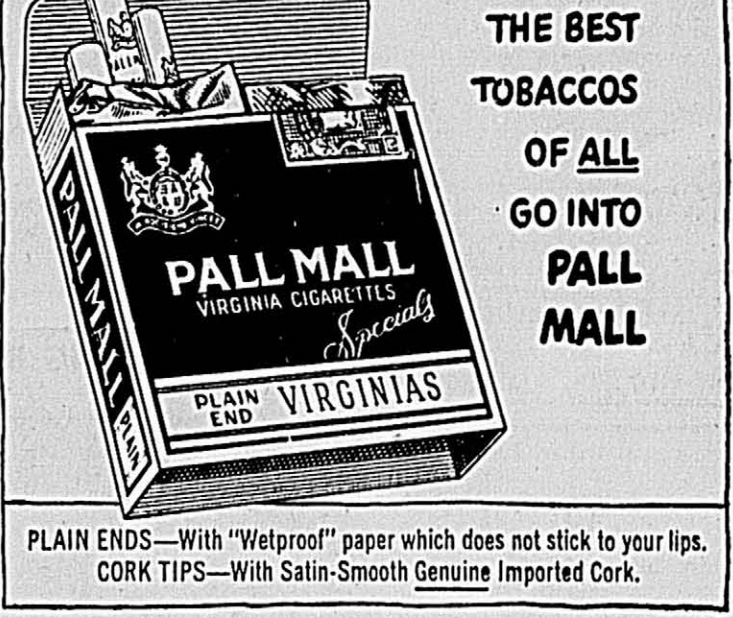

Unwrapping the parcel, some sandwiches, fruit, and hardboiled eggs came into view.

"But surely — I ate my lunch!" he belched.

Redmen Seeking Revenge Against U. of M. Carabins

The 1950-51 Hockey season closes this Saturday night for the McGill Redmen, when Art Therrien's U. of M. Carabins play host to Clan Campbell at the Verdun Auditorium. This will be the fourth meeting of the teams this season, and to the victors will go second place in the CIAU league.

The Therrienites have had a big margin on the season's play this year, winning the three previous games 8-2, 10-6 and 5-4. It is for this reason that the McGillians will be going all out come this Saturday, to try and avenge these defeats, as there is no love lost between the U. of M. team and the Redmen.

For the game on Saturday, Bob MacLellan will start in goals fronted by a new defence pair in the persons of Len Shaw and Preville, both up from intermediate ranks. Len is a well known hockey player, and starred with the Quebec Citadels before coming to the University. Preville has distinguished himself this year as an intermediate, and many of the railbirds think that this defenceman is a good senior prospect. The other defence duo will be made up of Ron Robertson with Lou Appleby and Rube "The Helmet" Zemel alternating with Ron.

Up front, the line, of Irving, Bobby Marchessault and Gordie "Bell Trophy" Knutson remains intact; this unit has been going great in practice, and are in rare form and raring to go.

Big Entry List Graces Indoor Track Meet

A large high school entry graced McGill's new Invitation Indoor Track meet Monday night and virtually assured the event of joining the Forum meet next year as an annual affair.

In the Men's open events, speedy Sandy Spence won both the 60 and 440 yard events. In the 60 yard sprint, Sandy was followed by clubmate Thorne of the Olympic Track Club and sensational high school football star, Phil Adrian of West Hill.

In the 440 yard, Hembling and Cook of the Montreal Track and Field Club placed and showed behind Spence's 60.6 winning time.

The Montreal Track and Field Club again took honours in the 1000 yards with Cook and Locas the one-two men. Baird of the Olympics placed third. The winning time was 2 minutes 29.5 seconds.

Ken Wagner garnered his second event of the evening in the High Jump and the McGill relay team bested the Montreal Track and Field Club in the Open relay.

Coach Van Wagner announced after the meet that McGill will definitely send a team to compete in the Canadian University mile relay championships in Hamilton on March 10th. The team will consist of Dave Winship, Ian Caughlan, Ken Wagner, and Gordie Gilmore. On hand to compete with McGill for the Fred Wigle Memorial Trophy will be Toronto Varsity, Western, and McMaster University.

Sports Award to Grid and Track Star

By BOB BORNSTEIN

Pete (The Jet) Robinson, the high-powered halfback whose dazzling runs highlighted the local football season, has been named winner of the Major Stuart Forbes Trophy for 1951. The Forbes Trophy is awarded to the athlete adjudged to have brought the most credit to the University during the year.

Rocky Robillard was the recipient of the honor last year, with Adin Merrow, the sensational backstroke of the swimming team winning it in 1949. The award is not the first of its kind to be won by Robinson, who earned the Wigle Trophy as McGill's most valuable football player at the end of the gridiron sprinted around the ends for huge chunks of yardage.

Pete first came into the football limelight in the fall of 1949. He had been out for football previously to this, but never showed enough class to earn stardom, so he turned his attention to cheerleading. But in '49 he really came into his own as a gridiron great and much of the credit for his transformation from a mere speedster to a fine runner with a world of drive, courage and general football "know-how" must be given Vic Obeck whose guidance made Robinson in to the scourge of intercollegiate ranks.

The Jet played one of his finest games in a losing cause. That was in London against Western in the contest won by the Mustangs 21-10 to send them into the play-off at Molson Stadium this year. London fans saw a brilliant runner that day as Robinson raced around end and burst through the line time and time again for large gains, but when it came to scoring touchdowns, it seemed that the cards were stacked against him.

Every time the Redmen had a chance to hit pay-dirt, something went wrong. Either some one didn't carry out his assignment properly or one of the Metrasmen would rise to the heights and pull off a spectacular defensive manoeuvre to halt the threat. Robinson in particular found the going tough around the goal-line, through no fault of his own. Most of the time he hardly had a chance to pick up speed before some Mustang came hurtling through the line to stop him. With more luck, Pete could have been a scoring hero that day, but he was the whole show for the Redmen anyway.

The activities of this superb athlete are not limited to sports. Pete is a member of the Scarlet Key, was chairman of the Athletics Night committee this past year, is an amateur painter in his spare time, already has a bachelor of Arts degree and is aiming for a degree in Commerce.

Pete is probably one of the most popular students attending the University. An extremely likeable fellow, Robinson has a keen sense of humor and is always ready with a quick comeback. His football buddies swear by him, and although there is almost always dispute when fans discuss players and their merits, in the case of Pete Robinson, everyone agrees that The Jet is quite a guy. In fact when you come down to it, Pete is the fair-haired boy of Old McGill.

Mainly known for his football feats, the speedy Robinson is also a track star, having run in the 100 yard dash, the 220, the 440 and the one mile relay. McGill track coach, F. M. Van Wagner calls Robinson, who has starred in track at McGill for five years, "one of the greatest sprinters in the history of the school."

The performance of Robinson on the gridiron this autumn is something that will never be forgotten by Montreal football fandom. The Jet sparked the team throughout the campaign with his inspiring play, and McGill rivals spent most of the season looking at his flying feet.

Robinson was the league's outstanding ground-gainer, totalling over 500 yards and had an average of better than five yards per carry. Although he scored only two touchdowns (both in the Queen's game at Molson Stadium), he was the chief threat in the backfield at all times and had the fans in a frenzy on numerous occasions when he

Engineers Win 'Mural Crown'

A gleaming plaque replica joined its one year old twin yesterday in the Engineering Building as the slide rule men captured their second Intramural Athletics Championship plaque in two years. Emblematic of Faculty supremacy in Intramural sports, three Engineering teams acquired a large portion of the points by fighting their way to championships.

In Volleyball, the 'Athenians' dominated the league for the second year to win the championship handily. On the team were J. Fafalos, S. Fafalos, Jack Nikolaidis, Meletopoulos, Sophianopoulos, Economou, Cavadias, Coloudis, Manoukis. Runnerup were Physical Education 1.

Engineering won another crown in Basketball with stars Reszetsnik and Matthews leading the 'Dawsons' to glory. Teammates were Naum, Uchida, Ripley, Kraulis, Slinn, and Hanashut. Both these teams topped their MacDonald equivalents Tuesday night in the Intramural Sports Festival.

Although beaten once in league play, the Engineering Moyses Boys continued Engineering supremacy in Touch Football. Nicholaidis, Wilson, Quince, MacHutcheon, Leslie, Dormer, Schremp, Logan, Parsons, Jason, Mudrock, MacNeil, MacDonald, and Ross played on the Moyses Boys team.

The Engineers were very active in Intramural Bowling with the 'Cocanuts' the highest scoring team and Meikle and F. Sutcliffe high singles and doubles scorers. But the Dentistry 'Paupers', Hoppood, Truscott, MacKachern, and Tungate, took the sole Dent Championship, in the Bowling.

The Faculty of Commerce won their only Championship in Intramural Softball, winning the Gunn Trophy. Curtis, Dick and Don Williams, Lloyd, Richard, Garand, Shapray, Chartrain, Desaulniers, Hamel, and Surprenant were the commerce types involved. Dentistry was second.

Medicine starred in Swimming during the past year, and added a MacDonald scalp to their collection on Extramural Night. Arts and Science were the runnersup. Individual champions were the Phys. Ed. Medley Relay team of Bromley, Lutz, and Robertson, A & S 50 yard backstroke Meeks, Med. 30 yards Breaststroke Reid, Engineering's freestyler Garneau, A & S backstroke Small.

Arts and Science won the Intramural Tennis honors; individual champions were C. McMillan and Roper of Medicine and Engineering respectively.

Medicine captured their second crown in Touch Football, with the Med. 3 team of Digby, Quirk, Fortier, Crawford, Penrose, Smith, Laing, Ballou, Atkins, Tidman McDonald, and Blair. Med. 2 'Reds' were the runnersup.

The Adams Trophy in Track and Field went to the Faculty of Physical Education for their championship effort. Arts and Science were runnersup. In the individual events, Henry Sliwka (Phys. Ed) won the Discus, and Pole Vault, Procope of Science the 100 yards and Low Hurdles, Mark Hatt of Phys. Ed. the Mile and Three miles; Raymond (Eng) the High Hurdles, Ken Scott (Science) the 880; Harry Biwald (Phys. Ed.) the High Jump; Waugh of Medicine the 16 lb. shot; Lionel Simmerman the 220; Phys. Ed's Firth the Javelin, Science's Rudd the Broad Jump; and Collier of Engineering the 440.

The Dr. N. B. Dreyer Cup in Badminton was awarded to Harry Hargreaves of Commerce, Tink Kyle of Dentistry and Campbell (Arch).

In Skiing, John Fry of A. & S. won the Downhill and Jim Baily of Science the Slalom and Combined.

Women in Sport by Rhoda Harris

A general invitation has been extended to every woman student on campus to attend the semi-annual meeting of the McGill Women's Student Athletic Association, scheduled for Wednesday, March 14 at 4 p.m. in the downstairs common room at RVC.

Awards will be presented to those who have earned them by consistently participating in intramural, inter-city, and intercollegiate leagues. The residential and managerial reports will be read, and elections to decide next year's MWSAA Council will also be included in the agenda.

The present council has drawn up a slate of officers which they will present at this time, but further nominations would be welcomed from the floor. Positions to be contested are those of secretary and treasurer of the MWSAA, and a manager for each of the thirteen sports offered to co-ed students. Audrey Wipper was acclaimed president early last week. An intramural manager, a publicity manager, a representative from the RVC Ski House, and a member-at-large complete the group. The latter is usually elected at the Athletic Preview in the fall.

For the first time in McGill's history, a girls' volleyball manager will be elected. Increased enthusiasm amongst the women has been evident ever since the Council passed a motion to include this game in their athletic curriculum, beginning next year. Volleyball has of late been most popular in the high schools, and many frosh will welcome the opportunity to participate in the sport when October '51 rolls along.

The Council's activities will officially culminate on March 21 when its annual awards' banquet will be held in R.V.C. A limited number of tickets, priced at 75 cent for award winners, and $1.50 for non-award winners, will be available. These may be purchased from M.W.S.A.A. members or at the Physical Education office at 555 Sherbrooke West.

ROSEMARY and JO-ANN STAR

Facing stiff and experienced competition, several of our girls have successfully carried the Red and White banner down some of the top skiing slopes this winter. No regular McGill squad is entered in the regular Laurentian Zone meets, but students may participate as individuals.

Nothing but the very best for the class of '51!

NFCUS Conference, Suspension Among Major Stories

By ALLAN BERNFELD
The Daily's first major news story which was considered as re-jection of the points, and this strengthened the NFCUS decision.
When The Daily got back into publication after a two-day suspension resulting from Combined Charities Extravaganza publicity, and when four student leaders including the Editor-in-Chief were re-admitted to classes, the SEC passed a motion which deplored the possible precedent set by the suspensions, and pointed out that such action on the part of the Senate would, if repeated, make student officers so insecure that it might become difficult to find people willing to take the risk of holding such offices.
The December elections for the new Student Executive Council made frontpage news when Guy Benoit, unsuccessful Commerce candidate, protested to the SEC that a letter mailed by his opponent's campaigners, bore signatures of three SEC members, thus violating a SEC.
The now-famous Report from Prague, which was presented to NFCUS by Bill Turner and Denis Lazure, student society presidents of the Universities of Toronto and Montreal respectively, was also presented by The Daily to its readers in a front-page condensation, along with a report of the Quebec conference.
The Daily went on to report, later in the year, that IUS had replied to the thirteen points presented by the western nations in a way which was considered as re-jection of the points, and this strengthened the NFCUS decision.
The December elections for the new Student Executive Council made frontpage news when Guy Benoit, unsuccessful Commerce candidate, protested to the SEC that a letter mailed by his opponent's campaigners, bore signatures of three SEC members, thus violating a SEC.
